He inspired many people through his speeches. In 1963, he gave his most famous speech called, "I Have a Dream." 250,000 people heard his message on treating people with equality and respect.

He experienced racial prejudice and segregation, starting when he was a child.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was a courageous hero who inspired many people and changed history.

He was born in Atlanta, Georgia in 1929.

1

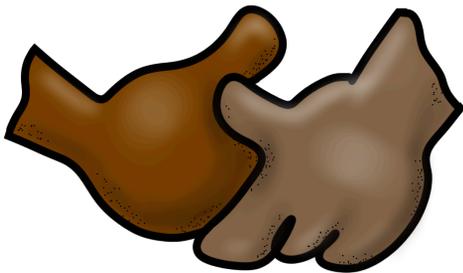

He experienced many hardships, but he didn't give up. Dr. King continued leading marches and protests that showed change can happen without violence.

6

Segregation means "separated by race." African Americans had to use different bathrooms, drinking fountains, schools, trains, and restaurants because of their skin color.

Dr. King was a minister who became a leader of the civil rights movement. He and his wife, Coretta Scott King, spent their lives trying to achieve equality and justice for Americans of all colors.
